

New College Collections in Music

A quick guide for musicians. Please note the information below; these remarks are supplementary to the College rules on page 6 and 7 of the Handbook.

Collections

- 1) 'Collections' are College examinations which are held at the start of each and every term. They may also be held on other occasions.
- 2) They are compulsory.
- 3) Termly Collections are sat on the Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of 0th week; a reminder that you are required to be back in residence by noon on Wednesday of 0th week in each and every term, see Handbook page 4.
- 4) Music Collections are on occasion sat as takeaway papers or open book exams. These will often occur later than 0th week so as not to clash with other collections.
- 5) Some Collections may at times be replaced with Mock Papers in preparation for University Examinations.
- 6) Mock papers may also be held at other times.

Content and Aims

- 7) The material examined is limited to that covered in the previous term, unless otherwise advised.
- 8) The aim of Collections is to moderate your progress, and may be marked pass/fail, or numerically, or given an indication of class.
- 9) The results do not count towards your next Public Examination result.
